

CHAPTER – 10

‘MEADOW SURPRISES’

HANDOUT

‘LET’S HAVE A QUICK REVIEW OF THE LAST THREE STANZAS’

KEYPOINTS: -

1. As we make our way forward, it leads us to “meadow houses”, so called because of their special features.
2. These meadow houses are like burrows in the ground, nests beneath tall trees and ant’s amazing mounds.
3. All these houses are generally not paid attention by us.
4. These are not prominent to the naked eyes but still exist nevertheless.
5. A meadow thus has special pleasures for all of us.
6. It has many secrets to convey, being a beautiful part of nature.
7. The poet reiterates that our sight and attentive hearing can take us closer to nature.
8. Nature has many mysteries to unravel which lie hidden in its lap.
9. All these mysteries need to be unfolded time and again.
10. These also need to be handled carefully to enjoy nature’s quintessential beauties.
