

Worksheet No.01

कक्षा /Class :X विषय /Subject : English

Name of Chapter-02-Mrs.Packletide's Tiger

Name of Topic: Literature

General Instructions:

Students are suggested to write the answers of the following questions in their note book on the basis of the classes and books.

1. The worksheet is divided into various parts

Question No. 1- Multiple Choice Questions (MCQs)----1 Marks

Question No. 2- Very Short Answer Type Questions----1 Marks

Question No. 3- Short Answer Type Questions-----2 Marks

Question No. 4- Short Answer Type Questions-----3 Marks

Question No. 5- Long Answer Type Questions----- 5 Marks

Q1	Multiple Choice Questions (MCQs)1 Marks
	Tick the correct answer from the	given alternatives:
(i)	Which of the following best describes the character of Mrs. Packletide?
	a. Humble and unassuming	b. Ambitious and competitive
	c. Kind and generousd. Carefree	and easy-going
(ii)	Why does Mrs. Packletide want to shoot a tiger?
	a. To protect the villagers	b. To prove her hunting skills
	c. To outshine LoonaBimberton	d. To study its behaviour
(iii)	How does Mrs Packletide feel about the villagers who helped her shoot the tiger?
	a. Grateful and appreciative	b. Indifferent and dismissive
	c. Envious and jealous	d. Suspicious and distrustful
(iv)	4. What is the significance of the	e title "Mrs Packletide's Tiger"?
	a. It refers to a specific tiger that	Mrs. Packletide shot.

b. It symbolizes Mrs.Packletide's desire for power and control. c. It represents the rivalry between Mrs. Packletide and LoonaBimberton. d. It suggests that the tiger is more important to Mrs. Packletide than it actually is. (v) What is the main theme of the story? a. The dangers of hunting wild animal's b. The importance of friendship and loyalty c. The vanity and greed of the British upper-class d. The challenges of living in a rural area (vi) Why does Mrs. Packletide feel compelled to display the tiger rug in her home: a. To show off her wealth and statusb. To honour the memory of the tiger c. To impress her friends and rivalsd. To keep warm during the winter months (vii) How does the story satirize the upper class? a. By portraying them as lazy and idle b. By showing their lack of concern for the environment c. By highlighting their obsession with material possessions d. By revealing their ignorance and lack of education (viii) How does the author use humour in the story? a. By making fun of the villagers' superstitions b. By exaggerating Mrs.Packletide's vanity and arrogance c. By describing the tiger as a comical and harmless creature d. By mocking the British upper class's social rituals and traditions (ix) What is the irony in Mrs.Packletide's plan to shoot a tiger? a. She ends up not shooting the tiger herself. b. The villagers trick her into paying for the tiger to be killed. c. The tiger she shoots is already old and feeble. d. LoonaBimberton has already shot a tiger before. (x) What is Mrs.Packletide's motivation for wanting to shoot a tiger? a) She wants to prove to everyone that she's a better shot than her rival, LoonaBimberton. b) She wants to prove to herself that she's brave enough to hunt a tiger. c) She wants to secure her place in society by showing off a rare trophy. d) All of the above
d. It suggests that the tiger is more important to Mrs. Packletide than it actually is. (v) What is the main theme of the story? a. The dangers of hunting wild animal's b. The importance of friendship and loyalty c. The vanity and greed of the British upper-class d. The challenges of living in a rural area (vi) Why does Mrs. Packletide feel compelled to display the tiger rug in her home? a. To show off her wealth and statusb. To honour the memory of the tiger c. To impress her friends and rivalsd. To keep warm during the winter months (vii) How does the story satirize the upper class? a. By portraying them as lazy and idle b. By showing their lack of concern for the environment c. By highlighting their obsession with material possessions d. By revealing their ignorance and lack of education (viii) How does the author use humour in the story? a. By making fun of the villagers' superstitions b. By exaggerating Mrs.Packletide's vanity and arrogance c. By describing the tiger as a comical and harmless creature d. By mocking the British upper class's social rituals and traditions (ix) What is the irony in Mrs.Packletide's plan to shoot a tiger? a. She ends up not shooting the tiger herself. b. The villagers trick her into paying for the tiger to be killed. c. The tiger she shoots is already old and feeble. d. LoonaBimberton has already shot a tiger before. (x) What is Mrs.Packletide's motivation for wanting to shoot a tiger? a) She wants to prove to everyone that she's a better shot than her rival, LoonaBimberton. b) She wants to prove to herself that she's brave enough to hunt a tiger. c) She wants to secure her place in society by showing off a rare trophy. d) All of the above		b. It symbolizes Mrs.Packletide's desire for power and control.
(vi) What is the main theme of the story? a. The dangers of hunting wild animal's b. The importance of friendship and loyalty c. The vanity and greed of the British upper-class d. The challenges of living in a rural area (vi) Why does Mrs. Packletide feel compelled to display the tiger rug in her home? a. To show off her wealth and statusb. To honour the memory of the tiger c. To impress her friends and rivalsd. To keep warm during the winter months (vii) How does the story satirize the upper class? a. By portraying them as lazy and idle b. By showing their lack of concern for the environment c. By highlighting their obsession with material possessions d. By revealing their ignorance and lack of education (viii) How does the author use humour in the story? a. By making fun of the villagers' superstitions b. By exaggerating Mrs.Packletide's vanity and arrogance c. By describing the tiger as a comical and harmless creature d. By mocking the British upper class's social rituals and traditions (ix) What is the irony in Mrs.Packletide's plan to shoot a tiger? a. She ends up not shooting the tiger herself. b. The villagers trick her into paying for the tiger to be killed. c. The tiger she shoots is already old and feeble. d. LoonaBimberton has already shot a tiger before. (x) What is Mrs.Packletide's motivation for wanting to shoot a tiger? a) She wants to prove to everyone that she's a better shot than her rival, LoonaBimberton. b) She wants to prove to herself that she's brave enough to hunt a tiger. c) She wants to secure her place in society by showing off a rare trophy. d) All of the above		c. It represents the rivalry between Mrs. Packletide and LoonaBimberton.
a. The dangers of hunting wild animal's b. The importance of friendship and loyalty c. The vanity and greed of the British upper-class d. The challenges of living in a rural area (vi) Why does Mrs. Packletide feel compelled to display the tiger rug in her home? a. To show off her wealth and statusb. To honour the memory of the tiger c. To impress her friends and rivalsd. To keep warm during the winter months (vii) How does the story satirize the upper class? a. By portraying them as lazy and idle b. By showing their lack of concern for the environment c. By highlighting their obsession with material possessions d. By revealing their ignorance and lack of education (viii) How does the author use humour in the story? a. By making fun of the villagers' superstitions b. By exaggerating Mrs.Packletide's vanity and arrogance c. By describing the tiger as a comical and harmless creature d. By mocking the British upper class's social rituals and traditions (ix) What is the irony in Mrs.Packletide's plan to shoot a tiger? a. She ends up not shooting the tiger herself. b. The villagers trick her into paying for the tiger to be killed. c. The tiger she shoots is already old and feeble. d. LoonaBimberton has already shot a tiger before. (x) What is Mrs.Packletide's motivation for wanting to shoot a tiger? a) She wants to prove to everyone that she's a better shot than her rival, LoonaBimberton. b) She wants to prove to herself that she's brave enough to hunt a tiger. c) She wants to secure her place in society by showing off a rare trophy. d) All of the above		d. It suggests that the tiger is more important to Mrs. Packletide than it actually is.
b. The importance of friendship and loyalty c. The vanity and greed of the British upper-class d. The challenges of living in a rural area (vi) Why does Mrs. Packletide feel compelled to display the tiger rug in her home? a. To show off her wealth and statusb. To honour the memory of the tiger c. To impress her friends and rivalsd. To keep warm during the winter months (vii) How does the story satirize the upper class? a. By portraying them as lazy and idle b. By showing their lack of concern for the environment c. By highlighting their obsession with material possessions d. By revealing their ignorance and lack of education (viii) How does the author use humour in the story? a. By making fun of the villagers' superstitions b. By exaggerating Mrs.Packletide's vanity and arrogance c. By describing the tiger as a comical and harmless creature d. By mocking the British upper class's social rituals and traditions (ix) What is the irony in Mrs.Packletide's plan to shoot a tiger? a. She ends up not shooting the tiger herself. b. The villagers trick her into paying for the tiger to be killed. c. The tiger she shoots is already old and feeble. d. LoonaBimberton has already shot a tiger before. (x) What is Mrs.Packletide's motivation for wanting to shoot a tiger? a) She wants to prove to everyone that she's a better shot than her rival, LoonaBimberton. b) She wants to prove to herself that she's brave enough to hunt a tiger. c) She wants to secure her place in society by showing off a rare trophy. d) All of the above	(v)	What is the main theme of the story?
c. The vanity and greed of the British upper-class d. The challenges of living in a rural area (vi) Why does Mrs. Packletide feel compelled to display the tiger rug in her home? a. To show off her wealth and statusb. To honour the memory of the tiger c. To impress her friends and rivalsd. To keep warm during the winter months (vii) How does the story satirize the upper class? a. By portraying them as lazy and idle b. By showing their lack of concern for the environment c. By highlighting their obsession with material possessions d. By revealing their ignorance and lack of education (viii) How does the author use humour in the story? a. By making fun of the villagers' superstitions b. By exaggerating Mrs.Packletide's vanity and arrogance c. By describing the tiger as a comical and harmless creature d. By mocking the British upper class's social rituals and traditions (ix) What is the irony in Mrs.Packletide's plan to shoot a tiger? a. She ends up not shooting the tiger herself. b. The villagers trick her into paying for the tiger to be killed. c. The tiger she shoots is already old and feeble. d. LoonaBimberton has already shot a tiger before. (x) What is Mrs.Packletide's motivation for wanting to shoot a tiger? a) She wants to prove to everyone that she's a better shot than her rival, LoonaBimberton. b) She wants to prove to herself that she's brave enough to hunt a tiger. c) She wants to secure her place in society by showing off a rare trophy. d) All of the above		a. The dangers of hunting wild animal's
d. The challenges of living in a rural area (vi) Why does Mrs. Packletide feel compelled to display the tiger rug in her home? a. To show off her wealth and statusb. To honour the memory of the tiger c. To impress her friends and rivalsd. To keep warm during the winter months (vii) How does the story satirize the upper class? a. By portraying them as lazy and idle b. By showing their lack of concern for the environment c. By highlighting their obsession with material possessions d. By revealing their ignorance and lack of education (viii) How does the author use humour in the story? a. By making fun of the villagers' superstitions b. By exaggerating Mrs.Packletide's vanity and arrogance c. By describing the tiger as a comical and harmless creature d. By mocking the British upper class's social rituals and traditions (ix) What is the irony in Mrs.Packletide's plan to shoot a tiger? a. She ends up not shooting the tiger herself. b. The villagers trick her into paying for the tiger to be killed. c. The tiger she shoots is already old and feeble. d. LoonaBimberton has already shot a tiger before. (x) What is Mrs.Packletide's motivation for wanting to shoot a tiger? a) She wants to prove to everyone that she's a better shot than her rival, LoonaBimberton. b) She wants to prove to herself that she's brave enough to hunt a tiger. c) She wants to secure her place in society by showing off a rare trophy. d) All of the above		b. The importance of friendship and loyalty
(vii) Why does Mrs. Packletide feel compelled to display the tiger rug in her home? a. To show off her wealth and statusb. To honour the memory of the tiger c. To impress her friends and rivalsd. To keep warm during the winter months (viii) How does the story satirize the upper class? a. By portraying them as lazy and idle b. By showing their lack of concern for the environment c. By highlighting their obsession with material possessions d. By revealing their ignorance and lack of education (viii) How does the author use humour in the story? a. By making fun of the villagers' superstitions b. By exaggerating Mrs.Packletide's vanity and arrogance c. By describing the tiger as a comical and harmless creature d. By mocking the British upper class's social rituals and traditions (ix) What is the irony in Mrs.Packletide's plan to shoot a tiger? a. She ends up not shooting the tiger herself. b. The villagers trick her into paying for the tiger to be killed. c. The tiger she shoots is already old and feeble. d. LoonaBimberton has already shot a tiger before. (x) What is Mrs.Packletide's motivation for wanting to shoot a tiger? a) She wants to prove to everyone that she's a better shot than her rival, LoonaBimberton. b) She wants to prove to herself that she's brave enough to hunt a tiger. c) She wants to secure her place in society by showing off a rare trophy. d) All of the above		c. The vanity and greed of the British upper-class
a. To show off her wealth and statusb. To honour the memory of the tiger c. To impress her friends and rivalsd. To keep warm during the winter months (vii) How does the story satirize the upper class? a. By portraying them as lazy and idle b. By showing their lack of concern for the environment c. By highlighting their obsession with material possessions d. By revealing their ignorance and lack of education (viii) How does the author use humour in the story? a. By making fun of the villagers' superstitions b. By exaggerating Mrs.Packletide's vanity and arrogance c. By describing the tiger as a comical and harmless creature d. By mocking the British upper class's social rituals and traditions (ix) What is the irony in Mrs.Packletide's plan to shoot a tiger? a. She ends up not shooting the tiger herself. b. The villagers trick her into paying for the tiger to be killed. c. The tiger she shoots is already old and feeble. d. LoonaBimberton has already shot a tiger before. (x) What is Mrs.Packletide's motivation for wanting to shoot a tiger? a) She wants to prove to everyone that she's a better shot than her rival, LoonaBimberton. b) She wants to prove to herself that she's brave enough to hunt a tiger. c) She wants to secure her place in society by showing off a rare trophy. d) All of the above		d. The challenges of living in a rural area
c. To impress her friends and rivalsd. To keep warm during the winter months (vii) How does the story satirize the upper class? a. By portraying them as lazy and idle b. By showing their lack of concern for the environment c. By highlighting their obsession with material possessions d. By revealing their ignorance and lack of education (viii) How does the author use humour in the story? a. By making fun of the villagers' superstitions b. By exaggerating Mrs.Packletide's vanity and arrogance c. By describing the tiger as a comical and harmless creature d. By mocking the British upper class's social rituals and traditions (ix) What is the irony in Mrs.Packletide's plan to shoot a tiger? a. She ends up not shooting the tiger herself. b. The villagers trick her into paying for the tiger to be killed. c. The tiger she shoots is already old and feeble. d. LoonaBimberton has already shot a tiger before. (x) What is Mrs.Packletide's motivation for wanting to shoot a tiger? a) She wants to prove to everyone that she's a better shot than her rival, LoonaBimberton. b) She wants to prove to herself that she's brave enough to hunt a tiger. c) She wants to secure her place in society by showing off a rare trophy. d) All of the above	(vi)	Why does Mrs. Packletide feel compelled to display the tiger rug in her home?
(vii) How does the story satirize the upper class? a. By portraying them as lazy and idle b. By showing their lack of concern for the environment c. By highlighting their obsession with material possessions d. By revealing their ignorance and lack of education (viii) How does the author use humour in the story? a. By making fun of the villagers' superstitions b. By exaggerating Mrs.Packletide's vanity and arrogance c. By describing the tiger as a comical and harmless creature d. By mocking the British upper class's social rituals and traditions (ix) What is the irony in Mrs.Packletide's plan to shoot a tiger? a. She ends up not shooting the tiger herself. b. The villagers trick her into paying for the tiger to be killed. c. The tiger she shoots is already old and feeble. d. LoonaBimberton has already shot a tiger before. (x) What is Mrs.Packletide's motivation for wanting to shoot a tiger? a) She wants to prove to everyone that she's a better shot than her rival, LoonaBimberton. b) She wants to prove to herself that she's brave enough to hunt a tiger. c) She wants to secure her place in society by showing off a rare trophy. d) All of the above		a. To show off her wealth and statusb. To honour the memory of the tiger
a. By portraying them as lazy and idle b. By showing their lack of concern for the environment c. By highlighting their obsession with material possessions d. By revealing their ignorance and lack of education (viii) How does the author use humour in the story? a. By making fun of the villagers' superstitions b. By exaggerating Mrs.Packletide's vanity and arrogance c. By describing the tiger as a comical and harmless creature d. By mocking the British upper class's social rituals and traditions (ix) What is the irony in Mrs.Packletide's plan to shoot a tiger? a. She ends up not shooting the tiger herself. b. The villagers trick her into paying for the tiger to be killed. c. The tiger she shoots is already old and feeble. d. LoonaBimberton has already shot a tiger before. (x) What is Mrs.Packletide's motivation for wanting to shoot a tiger? a) She wants to prove to everyone that she's a better shot than her rival, LoonaBimberton. b) She wants to prove to herself that she's brave enough to hunt a tiger. c) She wants to secure her place in society by showing off a rare trophy. d) All of the above		c. To impress her friends and rivalsd. To keep warm during the winter months
b. By showing their lack of concern for the environment c. By highlighting their obsession with material possessions d. By revealing their ignorance and lack of education (viii) How does the author use humour in the story? a. By making fun of the villagers' superstitions b. By exaggerating Mrs.Packletide's vanity and arrogance c. By describing the tiger as a comical and harmless creature d. By mocking the British upper class's social rituals and traditions (ix) What is the irony in Mrs.Packletide's plan to shoot a tiger? a. She ends up not shooting the tiger herself. b. The villagers trick her into paying for the tiger to be killed. c. The tiger she shoots is already old and feeble. d. LoonaBimberton has already shot a tiger before. (x) What is Mrs.Packletide's motivation for wanting to shoot a tiger? a) She wants to prove to everyone that she's a better shot than her rival, LoonaBimberton. b) She wants to prove to herself that she's brave enough to hunt a tiger. c) She wants to secure her place in society by showing off a rare trophy. d) All of the above	(vii)	How does the story satirize the upper class?
c. By highlighting their obsession with material possessions d. By revealing their ignorance and lack of education (viii) How does the author use humour in the story? a. By making fun of the villagers' superstitions b. By exaggerating Mrs.Packletide's vanity and arrogance c. By describing the tiger as a comical and harmless creature d. By mocking the British upper class's social rituals and traditions (ix) What is the irony in Mrs.Packletide's plan to shoot a tiger? a. She ends up not shooting the tiger herself. b. The villagers trick her into paying for the tiger to be killed. c. The tiger she shoots is already old and feeble. d. LoonaBimberton has already shot a tiger before. (x) What is Mrs.Packletide's motivation for wanting to shoot a tiger? a) She wants to prove to everyone that she's a better shot than her rival, LoonaBimberton. b) She wants to prove to herself that she's brave enough to hunt a tiger. c) She wants to secure her place in society by showing off a rare trophy. d) All of the above		a. By portraying them as lazy and idle
d. By revealing their ignorance and lack of education (viii) How does the author use humour in the story? a. By making fun of the villagers' superstitions b. By exaggerating Mrs.Packletide's vanity and arrogance c. By describing the tiger as a comical and harmless creature d. By mocking the British upper class's social rituals and traditions (ix) What is the irony in Mrs.Packletide's plan to shoot a tiger? a. She ends up not shooting the tiger herself. b. The villagers trick her into paying for the tiger to be killed. c. The tiger she shoots is already old and feeble. d. LoonaBimberton has already shot a tiger before. (x) What is Mrs.Packletide's motivation for wanting to shoot a tiger? a) She wants to prove to everyone that she's a better shot than her rival, LoonaBimberton. b) She wants to prove to herself that she's brave enough to hunt a tiger. c) She wants to secure her place in society by showing off a rare trophy. d) All of the above		b. By showing their lack of concern for the environment
(viii) How does the author use humour in the story? a. By making fun of the villagers' superstitions b. By exaggerating Mrs.Packletide's vanity and arrogance c. By describing the tiger as a comical and harmless creature d. By mocking the British upper class's social rituals and traditions (ix) What is the irony in Mrs.Packletide's plan to shoot a tiger? a. She ends up not shooting the tiger herself. b. The villagers trick her into paying for the tiger to be killed. c. The tiger she shoots is already old and feeble. d. LoonaBimberton has already shot a tiger before. (x) What is Mrs.Packletide's motivation for wanting to shoot a tiger? a) She wants to prove to everyone that she's a better shot than her rival, LoonaBimberton. b) She wants to prove to herself that she's brave enough to hunt a tiger. c) She wants to secure her place in society by showing off a rare trophy. d) All of the above		c. By highlighting their obsession with material possessions
a. By making fun of the villagers' superstitions b. By exaggerating Mrs.Packletide's vanity and arrogance c. By describing the tiger as a comical and harmless creature d. By mocking the British upper class's social rituals and traditions (ix) What is the irony in Mrs.Packletide's plan to shoot a tiger? a. She ends up not shooting the tiger herself. b. The villagers trick her into paying for the tiger to be killed. c. The tiger she shoots is already old and feeble. d. LoonaBimberton has already shot a tiger before. (x) What is Mrs.Packletide's motivation for wanting to shoot a tiger? a) She wants to prove to everyone that she's a better shot than her rival, LoonaBimberton. b) She wants to prove to herself that she's brave enough to hunt a tiger. c) She wants to secure her place in society by showing off a rare trophy. d) All of the above		d. By revealing their ignorance and lack of education
b. By exaggerating Mrs.Packletide's vanity and arrogance c. By describing the tiger as a comical and harmless creature d. By mocking the British upper class's social rituals and traditions (ix) What is the irony in Mrs.Packletide's plan to shoot a tiger? a. She ends up not shooting the tiger herself. b. The villagers trick her into paying for the tiger to be killed. c. The tiger she shoots is already old and feeble. d. LoonaBimberton has already shot a tiger before. (x) What is Mrs.Packletide's motivation for wanting to shoot a tiger? a) She wants to prove to everyone that she's a better shot than her rival, LoonaBimberton. b) She wants to prove to herself that she's brave enough to hunt a tiger. c) She wants to secure her place in society by showing off a rare trophy. d) All of the above	(viii)	How does the author use humour in the story?
c. By describing the tiger as a comical and harmless creature d. By mocking the British upper class's social rituals and traditions (ix) What is the irony in Mrs.Packletide's plan to shoot a tiger? a. She ends up not shooting the tiger herself. b. The villagers trick her into paying for the tiger to be killed. c. The tiger she shoots is already old and feeble. d. LoonaBimberton has already shot a tiger before. (x) What is Mrs.Packletide's motivation for wanting to shoot a tiger? a) She wants to prove to everyone that she's a better shot than her rival, LoonaBimberton. b) She wants to prove to herself that she's brave enough to hunt a tiger. c) She wants to secure her place in society by showing off a rare trophy. d) All of the above		a. By making fun of the villagers' superstitions
d. By mocking the British upper class's social rituals and traditions (ix) What is the irony in Mrs.Packletide's plan to shoot a tiger? a. She ends up not shooting the tiger herself. b. The villagers trick her into paying for the tiger to be killed. c. The tiger she shoots is already old and feeble. d. LoonaBimberton has already shot a tiger before. (x) What is Mrs.Packletide's motivation for wanting to shoot a tiger? a) She wants to prove to everyone that she's a better shot than her rival, LoonaBimberton. b) She wants to prove to herself that she's brave enough to hunt a tiger. c) She wants to secure her place in society by showing off a rare trophy. d) All of the above		b. By exaggerating Mrs.Packletide's vanity and arrogance
(ix) What is the irony in Mrs.Packletide's plan to shoot a tiger? a. She ends up not shooting the tiger herself. b. The villagers trick her into paying for the tiger to be killed. c. The tiger she shoots is already old and feeble. d. LoonaBimberton has already shot a tiger before. (x) What is Mrs.Packletide's motivation for wanting to shoot a tiger? a) She wants to prove to everyone that she's a better shot than her rival, LoonaBimberton. b) She wants to prove to herself that she's brave enough to hunt a tiger. c) She wants to secure her place in society by showing off a rare trophy. d) All of the above		c. By describing the tiger as a comical and harmless creature
 a. She ends up not shooting the tiger herself. b. The villagers trick her into paying for the tiger to be killed. c. The tiger she shoots is already old and feeble. d. LoonaBimberton has already shot a tiger before. (x) What is Mrs.Packletide's motivation for wanting to shoot a tiger? a) She wants to prove to everyone that she's a better shot than her rival, LoonaBimberton. b) She wants to prove to herself that she's brave enough to hunt a tiger. c) She wants to secure her place in society by showing off a rare trophy. d) All of the above 		d. By mocking the British upper class's social rituals and traditions
b. The villagers trick her into paying for the tiger to be killed. c. The tiger she shoots is already old and feeble. d. LoonaBimberton has already shot a tiger before. (x) What is Mrs.Packletide's motivation for wanting to shoot a tiger? a) She wants to prove to everyone that she's a better shot than her rival, LoonaBimberton. b) She wants to prove to herself that she's brave enough to hunt a tiger. c) She wants to secure her place in society by showing off a rare trophy. d) All of the above	(ix)	What is the irony in Mrs.Packletide's plan to shoot a tiger?
c. The tiger she shoots is already old and feeble. d. LoonaBimberton has already shot a tiger before. (x) What is Mrs.Packletide's motivation for wanting to shoot a tiger? a) She wants to prove to everyone that she's a better shot than her rival, LoonaBimberton. b) She wants to prove to herself that she's brave enough to hunt a tiger. c) She wants to secure her place in society by showing off a rare trophy. d) All of the above		a. She ends up not shooting the tiger herself.
d. LoonaBimberton has already shot a tiger before. (x) What is Mrs.Packletide's motivation for wanting to shoot a tiger? a) She wants to prove to everyone that she's a better shot than her rival, LoonaBimberton. b) She wants to prove to herself that she's brave enough to hunt a tiger. c) She wants to secure her place in society by showing off a rare trophy. d) All of the above		b. The villagers trick her into paying for the tiger to be killed.
(x) What is Mrs.Packletide's motivation for wanting to shoot a tiger? a) She wants to prove to everyone that she's a better shot than her rival, LoonaBimberton. b) She wants to prove to herself that she's brave enough to hunt a tiger. c) She wants to secure her place in society by showing off a rare trophy. d) All of the above		c. The tiger she shoots is already old and feeble.
a) She wants to prove to everyone that she's a better shot than her rival,LoonaBimberton.b) She wants to prove to herself that she's brave enough to hunt a tiger.c) She wants to secure her place in society by showing off a rare trophy.d) All of the above		d. LoonaBimberton has already shot a tiger before.
LoonaBimberton. b) She wants to prove to herself that she's brave enough to hunt a tiger. c) She wants to secure her place in society by showing off a rare trophy. d) All of the above	(x)	What is Mrs.Packletide's motivation for wanting to shoot a tiger?
b) She wants to prove to herself that she's brave enough to hunt a tiger.c) She wants to secure her place in society by showing off a rare trophy.d) All of the above		a) She wants to prove to everyone that she's a better shot than her rival,
c) She wants to secure her place in society by showing off a rare trophy.d) All of the above		LoonaBimberton.
d) All of the above		b) She wants to prove to herself that she's brave enough to hunt a tiger.
· ·		c) She wants to secure her place in society by showing off a rare trophy.
Q2 Very short answer (1 marks)		d) All of the above
	Q2	Very short answer (1 marks)
	Q2	Very short answer (1 marks)

(i)	Why did Mrs. Packletide want to kill a tiger?
(ii)	What does it tell you about her?
(iii)	What is the tone of the storywriter?
(iv)	Do you think she was successful in her mission?
(v)	What do you think the story is all about?
(vi)	Who was Miss Mebbin?
(vii)	What was her relationship with Mrs.Packletide?
(viii)	Why did Mrs. Packletide wish to kill a tiger?
(ix)	What discovery annoyed Mrs.Packletide?
(x)	What preparation were made for the tiger shoot?
Q3	Short Answer Type Questions (2 marks each)
(i)	Why did Mrs. Packletide give up big-game shooting?
(ii)	How does Louisa Mebbin exploit the incident of killing the tiger to her greatest advantage?
(iii)	How did Miss Louisa Mebbin blackmail Mrs.Packletide?
(iv)	What had Mrs. Packletide already arranged in her mind for LoonaBimberton?
(v)	Mrs. Packletide was a good shot. Discuss.
Q4	Short Answers (3 marks)
(i)	Why did Mrs. Packletide give up big-game shooting?
(ii)	Do you think the tiger shooting organized by the villagers was a serious affair?
	Give f reasons for your answer.
(iii)	Why did Mrs. Packletide decide to give a party in honour of LoonaBimberton?
	What did she plan to present Loona on her birthday?
(iv)	What was Mrs.Packletide's pleasure and intention? Why did she decide to kill a tiger?
(v)	How did Louisa Mebbin manage to buy the pretty weekend cottage?
Q5	Long Answers (5 marks)
(i)	Mrs.Packletide's desire became a constant trouble for her. Explain.
(ii)	How does the writer create humour in this story?
(iii)	Do you think the writer is trying to make fun of the main characters in the story i.e.
	Mrs. Packletide, Miss Mebbin and LoonaBimberton? Pick out instances from the story that point to this fact.
(iv)	A person who is vain is full of self-importance and can only think of himself / herself and can go to great lengths to prove his / her superiority. Do you think Mrs Packletide is vain? Give reasons in support of your answer.

(v)	Sometimes writers highlight certain negative aspects in society or human beings by making fun of it. This is called satire. In your groups discuss whether you would classify this story as a satire. Give reasons to support your answer.